Repetition

The same 3 colors are repeated. Each one representing something. The yellow, a color representation NYC with all the taxi's. Bluish/purple and red, something to make the posters pop.

None of these colors are often used together because they may be considered "loud" or clashing. In this context, they appear grandiose and original.

Space

Design principles study

In each poster, there's some architecture that represents NYC, sometimes a specific borough. Space is taken up by a key feature of each borough and Mamdani's name is strategically placed within these sites.

Although there's no consistent font, there's this trend where mamdani's name is always in bold, big letters, and is never the same color as any other text.

Each aspect is bold and important and shine in their own way. Key features of NYC are featured throughout this campaign.

This creates context.

It also highlights the city's beauty. If it does nothing else, these designs grab your attention.
