From the Editor

I think an editors letter Is Important for every magazine. It Is Important that you, the viewer, can understand my place of Intention In presenting you these photos and stories from various times In my young life, highlighting the highs and lows, the hardships and ease, and the simple, silent hours, altogether.

So, hello, I am Julie Makram. I sometimes photograph for employment, sometimes for memories, and sometimes for love and adventure. In this spread, Its possible you could guess which photos were for what, but that Is not the Intention. Enjoy these photos and read the stories as If they've come from your own life and your own telling.

MOVING MOMENTS

Moments silently captured while they were happening - while time was still, while songs were sung, while hair products were being shared among brothers who each live in different places and rarely gather in one place.
